the music of an enlarged orchestra. At 12 o'clock refreshments were served in the rooms of the Mina Commercial club by a committee of ladies.

The affair was in the hands of a committee consisting of F. D. Baker, chairman; A. R. Nelson, J. C. Phelps and J. O. Greenard, and a very considerable sum was realized for the use of the post. The roster now contains thirty-one names, and a vigorous campaign is under way to increase the membership to at least one hundred.

A project is being actively canvassed to erect a memorial to the memory of the Mineral county boys who sacrificed their lives in the world war.

The memorial will probably take the form of a bronze tablet inscribed with the names of the fifteen men of Mineral county who gave their all at the call of their country.

GEN. DENIKINE'S RULE SMASHED

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Jan. 1.—General Denikine's government in southern Russia has been overthrown and General Romanovsky has been chosen to replace Denikine as the anti-bolshevik chief, according to a wireless dispatch from Moscow quoting advices from Tagan Rog.

A lot of enterprising publishers will now get busy bringing out the lives and confessions of Emma Goldman and Aleck Berkman.

An Indianapolis man, attacked by a robber, took 95 cents away from the crook. He ought to be sent to Mexico as American ambassador.

OFFICIAL REPORT ON TONOPAH POSTOFFICE

interfering with the box mail service.

Postmaster McQuillan has a string of waiting orders for boxes that cannot be filled. The office has 1400 boxes and 500 more could be placed so as to add materially to the revenue. The boxes are of an antiquated pattern that can be handled only by experts.

Two sites for a new building have been suggested. These are the vacant block opposite The Bonanza office which has been offered the department at a reasonable price and is the favored choice owing to the existence of over $15,000 worth of improvements in the way of sidewalks on three sides and a foundation capable of supporting a substantial concrete building. With this beginning it is believed that $30,000 would give the needed improvement. The second choice is the corner of Oddie avenue and Main street where a concrete foundation is ready for the superstructure, although there are no sidewalks. The cost of building here is estimated at $40,000. The letter of the department is as follows:

Washington, Dec. 23,
Hon. Charles R. Evans,
House of Representatives,
My Dear Mr. Evans:
Reference is made to your interest in the selection of quarters for the postoffice at Tonopah, Nev. In this connection, I wish to inform you that the department is in receipt of a report from the inspector who made a recent investigation of the matter in which he states that it is impossible to secure a proposal to lease new quarters although both he and the postmaster made every effort to do so. He further states that the only apparent immediate solution of the existing problem would be to lease some space in the basement directly under the postoffice quarters. This basement is leased by another party, who offers to let the postoffice have approximately 450 square feet at a rental of $85 per month, but to utilize this space it would be necessary for the department to bear the expense of erecting a partition in order to make the room inaccessible to tenants in the front part of the building, together with what additional expense it would be necessary to incur to make the space satisfactory for handling the mail, as the proponent will not go to any expense whatever in the preparation of the quarters.

The postmaster of Tonopah expresses the view that if the space in the basement is leased for postal purposes, it will be necessary to cut a passageway on the inside to connect the two floors; also to install a mail elevator on the outside. He suggests $300 as the probable cost of these changes, but it is evident that this amount cannot include the elevator, which, if operated by power, could not be installed for less than $3,000.

It is not believed that the department should rent the basement and undertake the necessary changes and alterations, especially in view of the early expiration of the existing contract, which has only fifteen months more to run. If the proposal were accepted at the present time, it is obvious that the space could not be available in time for the holiday business, and if the postmaster is able to transact the increased volume of business incident to the holiday season in the present room, the service can no doubt be conducted therein for the present.

Although, in view of the facts set forth above, it is believed that the proposition should be disapproved, action on the case will be deferred until the second proximo to give you an opportunity to submit such further representations as you may desire to have considered.

Very truly yours,
J. C. KROONS,
First Assistant Postmaster General.

Willard BATTERY
First Cost
We can't compete for battery business on price. Willard service does cost more, so does a Willard Battery. But isn't it true that if you hire a real engineer, or architect, or contractor, or carpenter, or mechanic, or doctor, or lawyer, that it saves in the long run?
We're in business to do the job right the first time—and that costs more than to fix it so it has to be done over again soon after.
When we sell a Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation we charge more for it, but it doesn't come back for re-insulation with a big bill to you. It stays on the job till it has delivered all the service you bought—and generally a lot more than you'd believe possible.
Try it once—and you'll feel the same as 99% of all who own Willard Batteries with Threaded Rubber Insulation.
Drop in, glad to see you.

BOXING GAINS FAVOR WITH THE COLLEGES

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Boxing as an intercollegiate sport is rapidly gaining supporters at a number of colleges and universities in all parts of the country and championship tournaments under revised ring rules are not at all unlikely within the next few years. Inter-varsity bouts between picked boxing teams representing Oxford and Cambridge universities have been part of the annual English sport schedule for many years and similar contests are not entirely unknown in the United States.

It is expected that such meetings will become more frequent as the boom in boxing gathers strength. The tendency in this direction is shown by a number of recent reports of boxing activity among the collegians. Word comes from Pennsylvania, that the "little conference" has included boxing in its list of major sports and that a championship tournament would be held next spring.

In the east the University of Pennsylvania has long been an ardent advocate of boxing for the college athlete and has several times suggested the formation of an inter-collegiate boxing league. At the present time both Pennsylvania and Penn. State college have the largest squads of boxers trying for the teams in the history of the sport. Both squads are under the instruction of competent coaches and there will be a dual tournament early in the spring between the two institutions as was the case in 1919. Dartmouth and other colleges in the east have engaged boxing coaches and plan intramural tournaments with the possibility of broader activity within a year or two.

The plan for a set of international boxing rules to supersede the antiquated Marquis of Queensberry code promises to be a subject of considerable controversy during the coming months. The army, navy and civilian board of boxing control in this country recently sent a representative board with the outline for new regulations. Later it was learned that the International Boxing Federation, a European organization, was also at work on such a set of rules. It was further learned that there was a wide gulf between the proposed codes and that so far as the European authorities were concerned there was little inclination to adopt the American ideas.

The Amateur Athletic Union has also issued a notice to all candidates for places on the American Olympic games boxing team that the contests at Antwerp next summer will be conducted under the English amateur boxing rules and that they must familiarize themselves with this code if they expect to make the team. These rules differ in a number of respects from the United States regulations and a point winner under the latter might easily be declared the loser in a bout fought at Antwerp.

We used to make fun of the Fiji Islanders because they didn't wear clothes, but under present conditions the Fijians have the laugh on us.

And to think after the fuss they have made against money, that a bunch of sociopathic seamen should rebel because they weren't allowed to shoot craps.
